

In the Waiting Room

I read that an Acheulean hand axe from a million years ago has roughly the same dimensions as my Samsung Galaxy, and sunlight never reaches the bottom of some moon craters.

My vital signs were fine until I saw the white coat coming for me.